

Grecia on display

More than a year after having entered our Rescue Center, after a serious injury by abuse which it lost half of its peak, the toucan Grecia today enjoys a prosthesis and an ideal enclosure to provide the quality of life she deserves.

Now our visitors will witness our work, commitment and effort for wildlife. We have created the new house of the toucan to give it a comfortable life and similar to the natural environment in which it lived before.

Even so, we deeply regret having her in captivity and not being able to release Grecia for the wrongdoings of some people, but it comforts us to think that she inspired an entire nation and it will remind us in its enclosure that we must protect the most vulnerable and fight for them.

Like Grecia, each animal in the Animal Rescue ZooAve has its sad story, but every day we strive to minimize the numbers of animal abuse. We will continue strongly in our mission to rescue, release and reproduce wild species to conserve the fauna of Costa Rica.
